Relationship and Marriage Planning

Butzel's family law attorneys provide expert, mature, and creative solutions relating to relationship planning. We have worked extensively with clients in both pre- and post-nuptial agreements and non-marital cohabitation agreements. Our approach is a hands-on treatment that clients expect from smaller, boutique firms, and yet we provide all of the advantages and resources that only a large firm can offer. We feel that this approach is crucial to effectively addressing contentious legal issues and significant asset ownership.

We excel in the technical and specialized areas of valuation of a spouse's corporate benefits and deferred compensation, which may either comprise a substantial portion of a divorce, or affect the content of a pre- or post-nuptial agreement.
