

IN THE NEWS

Butzel Long attorney Robin Luce Herrmann discusses potential legal pitfalls of social media in Crain's Detroit

12.14.2014

A sea change is coming next month for businesses and organizations that use Facebook to market themselves.

The world's largest social media network announced that in January it will change its secret algorithms so that fewer posts from business pages are seen by its users.

Click here to read the full article.

Related Services

Media Law

Media Litigation

Media, Entertainment, and
Digital Content Law Specialty
Team